A. Background

Culture is the characteristic and knowledge of a particular group of people, defined by language, religion, cuisine, social habits, music and arts. The Center for Advance Research on Language Acquisition goes a step further by defining culture as shared patterns of behaviors and interactions, cognitive constructs and understanding that are learned by socialization. Thus, it can be seen as the growth of a group identity fostered by social patterns unique to the group. The word "culture" derives from a French term, which in turn derives from the Latin “colere,” which means to tend to the earth and grow, or cultivation and nurture. (www.livescience.com)

Many countries are largely populated by immigrants, and the culture is influenced by many groups of people that now make up the countries. This is also a part of growth. As the countries grow, so does its cultural diversity.

Eastern culture generally refers to the societal norms of countries in Far East Asia (including China, Japan, Vietnam, North Korea and South Korea) and the Indian subcontinent. Like the West, Eastern culture was heavily influenced by religion during its early development, but it was also heavily influenced by the growth and harvesting of rice, according to the book "Pathways to Asian Civilizations: Tracing the Origins and Spread of Rice and Rice Cultures" by Dorian Q. Fuller. In general, in Eastern culture there is less of a distinction between secular society and religious philosophy than there is in the West. (www.academia.edu)

SIPA or Solo International Performing Arts is an arena-scale international cultural arts performances to the material in the form of performance art. While the show is the genre of art ranging from dance, music, theater and art to or did not rule extends to other areas of art.
Solo International Performing Arts (SIPA) is the spirit of movement to preserve the world culture with its culture through performing arts. SIPA does not only emphasize traditional and modern performing arts but also highlights the spirit of togetherness.

B. The importance of internship

Internship is very important. By having an internship, it can help me increase the chance of working experience. A candidate who has spent time working for a firm within a particular institution shows dedication to a particular career, enthusiasm for a particular job and experience.

Internships also very useful to interns themselves as they offer the chance to find out what is working for a particular institution, or within a certain company. Internship also allow interns to make contacts with owner and recruiters (HRD), which can later be used to source of reference in a job.

C. The reason to do an Internship at SIPA

I choosed to do an internship at SIPA, because I knew it was a great institution that reaches out to many countries. SIPA has a broad range of clients and I believe the various services they provide help target all of those different needs. moreover, this institution offers a wide variety of experiences, such as organization with co-workers, organize files, communicate fluently and teamwork. I wanted a great experience that would help me accomplish my goals and I feel this broad range of opportunities will greatly help me achieve my future career goals.

D. Time and place of internship

My internship place was Solo International Performing Arts (SIPA) which is located at kedasih street No. 22 Kerten, Surakarta, Central Java. I had the internship from March to May 2016, the office hours was 8 hours each day.
E. The Benefits of Doing an Internship

The benefits that I have been received from participating in the internship program at SIPA include broadening my experience, learning how to translate the book, how to properly design workout routines, how to get to know members in the institution, how to develop my skill, and the processes that go on when trying to translate a book. So, I am much more confident in my abilities now.

By doing a great job and completing more than what I required for my internship, I did a great impression and may even potentially lead to a potential job offer. When I completed the job from the institution at the end of the internship, I asked for a recommendation for future reference.

F. Report Organization

The internship reports consists of four chapters. The first chapter is introduction which is comprised with the background, the importance of internship, the reason to do internship at SIPA, time and place of internship, and the benefits of doing an internship. Then, the second chapter is description which is comprised of short profile of SIPA, management of SIPA, job title and job description, technologies equipment, and institution plans. Next, the third chapter is internship activities which is comprised of activities in general; the process of activities and the problems during internship. The last, the fourth chapter is conclusion and recommendation which is comprised of results of the final project.
